Best practices are developed throughout the enterprise in various departments, projects and is a result of an organic process , individual enthusiasm and effort . There could differences between the levels of development in practices due to existence of silos or absence of formal processes or proactive steps in collaboration .

The gaps between departments or projects in knowledge , skills and practices can be ascertained by a structured process and solutions identified for collaborative sharing of best practices .

Xtraplus is geared to provide customized solutions to suit specific organization needs depending on the type and size of a project and its domain . This is done through an approach of identifying requirements and scoping through assessments of processes , analysis and suggesting appropriate solutions .
